Separatists Set Up Republic In Rhineland; France Denies Having Encouraged the Move

Aix-la-Chapelle, Duren and Mayence First to Be Seized As Base For the New Government.

BLOW TO GERMANY

Berlin, Oct. 22.—A blow, against which the German Government has been stalling itself, fell Sunday. Citizens of the Rhineland rose, put on green, red and white arm bands, armed themselves and declared a separate republic.

Aix-la-Chapelle, Mayence, Duren and other important cities of that section of the country between France and Germany were seized by the separatists. The French and Belgians occupying the strip of territory in which the uprising occurred did not interfere.

The only hope of the Stresemann Government, fully equipped to meet the revolt and harassed by trouble in Bavaria and economic difficulties was that the separatists' revolt was premature.

At Aix-la-Chapelle, the most important of the Rhineland cities seized the proclamations which were posted about the city were signed by Leo Deckers and Doctor Gutthardt, more or less independent separatist agitators. So far, comparative calm apparently had marked the progress of the separatist revolt. French sources reported an unimportant clash of troops and separatists at Mayence early this morning, after which the separatists were reported to have withdrawn to the outskirts of the city.

Paris, Oct. 22.—"France is not responsible for the establishment of the Rhineland Republic," Pertinax usually regarded as the journalistic mouth piece of the Government, said in a signed editorial today.

"France regards the event as the inevitable consequence of Germany's mad course in following out passive resistance to Franco-Belgian occupation of the Ruhr. It was this resistance that caused the gradual break-up of the power of the central Government in Germany. France will treat with the new state on its merits. The Rhineland Republic must assume its full share of reparation."

Dispatches from various points indicated the proclamation of the separatist Republic would be completed throughout the Rhineland today.

Dusseldorf, Oct. 22.—Separatists have proclaimed a Rhenish Republic in Treves, Baden, Munchen and Gladbach, disarming the local police. No resistance was met anywhere.

Brussels, Oct. 22.—The Rhenish Separatists have occupied Grossgeran, Rueselaborn and Stralenburg, according to messages received from Aix-la-Chapelle. (Continued on Page 5)

ZEY, AMERICA'S HOPE IN RACING CLASSIC OF 1923, GALLOPS HOME TO EASY VICTORY OVER PYPYRUS

Belmont Park Race Course, N. Y., Oct. 20.—Coming down the home stretch with a blinding, irresistible burst of speed, Zey, the Arabian racing hope, scored a smashing thoroughbred victory for America today, defeating Papyrus, the English Derby winner, by the decisive margin of six lengths over the mile and a half Belmont Park course.

With Zey's sensational victory went $200,000 of the $100,000 purse for which the classic was fought and the crown of three-year-old champion of the world at stake for the first time in one of the most colorful spectacles American turf history has ever known.

A vast throng of 60,000, the largest in Eastern track annals, gathered in this picturesque Long Island setting in expectation of a tense duel for thoroughbred laurels. But while there were thrills aplenty, the crowd saw the American colt sweep to a triumph almost as one-sided as it was spectacular.

Never Headed.

AGED WOMAN KILLED IN AUTO ACCIDENT NEAR NANTICOKE

Wilkes Barre, Pa., Oct. 22.—The aged mother of Dr. Z. I. Smith, prominent Nanticoke physician, was instantly killed and three other persons were injured when an auto, in which they were returning from a church service at Lehighton, overturned at Wheeler's Curve near White Haven this morning.

The car skidded on a bad piece of road coming down the mountain and turned turtle into the ditch at the Curve. The other occupants of the machine were rushed to Nanticoke City Hospital.

TWO TRAINMEN LOSE LIVES IN A WRECK NEAR PROVIDENCE

Medford Junction, Mass., Oct. 22.—Wm. M. Taylor, engineer and H. C. Russell, brakeman, both of Providence, R. I., were killed when their train was derailed here today.

Henry Beaudry, of Woonsocket, R. I., a brakeman, John H. Coughlin, engineer, Edward Miller, fireman and John Imondi, fireman, were seriously injured.

SUPREME COURT HANDS DOWN SOME IMPORTANT RULES

Washington, D. C. Oct. 22.—The Supreme Court today denied the petition of Dr. Edward A. Rumley and his associates for a review of their conviction and sentence for conspiracy to hide the interest held by the German Government in the New York Evening Mail during the early part of the war.

Rumley and his legal associates, S. Walter Kaufman and Norvin R. Lindheim, were sentenced to a year's imprisonment in Atlanta.

Washington, D. C. Oct. 22.—The Supreme Court today denied the petition of trustees of St. Joseph Lithuanian Roman Catholic churches in Pennsylvania enjoining them from charging pew rent against the will of the Priest of the church and from renting the church school house as a pool hall and cigar store.

Washington, D. C. Oct. 22.—The Supreme Court today declared unconstitutional the act of congress decreeing that a fraud perpetrated against "any corporation in which the United States is a stock holder is a crime against the United States."

In reversing the decision of the lower court that the act was unconstitutional in the present, the Supreme Court ruled that LeRoy W. Walton should be held or defrauding the United States Shipping Board Emergency Fleet Corporation.

Washington, D. C. Oct. 22.—The Supreme Court today held that persons charged with violations of the national prohibition act, before coming to trial in Federal Courts, need not always be taken before a grand jury for indictment.

"GOD SEEKING," A FINE SERMON

Dr. Reeve preached the first of his new series of sermons last evening at the Presbyterian church. The title of the series is "God and You" and the purpose is to show the direct relationship between the Father and the individual. Last evening's sermon was on God seeking out the individual and it was indeed a wonderful exposition of a very interesting subject. Next Sunday evening the series will be continued with a sermon of God blessing and as a prelude to the sermon the wonderfully talented violinist who appeared here Sunday morning a week ago will again play.

EVIDENCE LEADS TO THE BELIEF THAT MISSING SAN DIEGO BROKER HAS BEEN "COOKED" FOR TWO DAYS IN KETTLE

San Diego, Cal., Oct. 22.—A large kettle, said to have been kept seething in the yard of Everett Clark's Mission Drive "host house" for two days after the disappearance of George E. Schick, San Diego broker, in which authorities believe Schick's body may have been cooked, was found today.

"Discovery in dense underbrush in Mission Canyon, the cauldron yielded ghastly evidence. Charred fragments of bones tumbled out as officers lifted it and the inside was lined with a black crust.

TEXT OF COOLIDGE'S STATEMENT ON THE OBSERVANCE OF LAW

Washington, Oct. 20.—The full text of President Coolidge's address before the convocation of Governors which he called here today, follows:

"It is my peculiar privilege to welcome you here as one who by experience can look at your problems with that sympathy which comes from common fellowship. The government of a sovereign state of our nation is an exalted position. It demands, with its own jurisdiction, with a single exception, every other office in America.

It is the very greatest honor that a state can bestow. A gathering of governors has a significance greater than any other unofficial convocation that can be held in the United States.

It would only be a matter of large public importance that could justify a gathering of the chief executives of the states and the nation for a conference at Washington. You have been invited here that I might lay before you some of the problems for a better enforcement of the law.

Statement of the purpose is sufficient to indicate the importance of a government which does not enforce its laws is unworthy of the name of a government and cannot expect to hold either the support of its own citizens or the respect of the informed opinion of the world.

That ours is a dual system of administration does not need to be explained in this presence. Joint powers and joint responsibilities exist which can best be exercised and discharged by joint action.

While certain classes of aliens, easily distinguishable, have been excluded from this country for a considerable length of time, a general policy of restricting immigration, broadly inclusive, has only recently been adopted. The new laws admit approximately 350,000 aliens, or about one-third of the number coming in annually under the old law before the war.

On the other hand, the number desiring to enter is now much larger, and attempts to evade the law have greatly increased. It is estimated by the Department of Labor that there is a seepage over the border, and thru the ports, of about 100,000, which is a considerable menace to the success of our immigration policy.

Such an influx of persons, entering the country in violation of the law, cannot fail to attract the attention of local police authorities along our borders and on our seacoasts, who can be of very great assistance in notifying the local representatives of the Department of Justice, or the Department of Labor, in order that such persons may be more readily be excluded and deported.

Another problem exists, which is world-wide in some of its aspects. It is considered of such importance to our welfare that special representatives of this country attended when the League of Nations recently considered the regulation of opium traffic, where their effort met with large success.

The national laws and the laws of most of the states regulate the sale of narcotic drugs. Their use, except under the direction of competent medical advice, is everywhere regarded as resulting in lamentable disaster.

The effective protection of the people from these results depends on our ability to prevent the smuggling and unlawful sale of such narcotics. Their use is, in part, perhaps, due to physical diseases, and, in part, to lack of moral stamina, but their abuse is almost wholly a result of violation of the law. If the law can be enforced, medical science would very soon rid the country of this menace.

OKLAHOMA HOUSE HEARS CHARGES AGAINST WALTON

Oklahoma City, Okla., Oct. 22.—Opposition leaders today said impeachment charges will be read against Governor J. C. Walton in the lower house of the Oklahoma Legislature at 2:00 p. m. The indictment against the Governor, consisting of approximately 35 typewritten pages, was completed at a midnight session of the committee, which investigated the Governor's administration.

The vote on the indictment probably will come tonight or early tomorrow and it is considered practically certain that the house will recommend Walton's removal. The recommendation will then go to the Senate, which presumably will either convict or exonerate the governor. The Senate will take up the impeachment this week, leaders said.

New Gas Station At The Point Will Be A Thing Of Beauty And A Credit

The Atlantic Refining Company began the work of erecting their gas service station at the junction of South second and South Front streets on Thursday last. A large crew of men is at work and the construction work is being rushed to completion.

The new station is designed to be both a thing of beauty and a decided addition to that section of town. The plans provide for setting the station proper at the north or down-town end of the triangular piece of ground upon which it is to be located. It will be built of ornamental tile and yellow glass and will be 10.2x15.2 in dimensions.

A concrete driveway will surround the plot and make easy access to the filling station from either street, and allows the customer to get entirely away from general traffic on the street while being served. The present walks on either side of the plot will be replaced by a new one surrounded by curbs as a protection to pedestrians, while a five foot wide walk extending 51 feet across the plot will provide passageway for people desiring to cross from South First to South Second street or vice versa.

Meter casings will be provided on both streets, while two additional meter casings will be located at the front of the building. The apex of the triangle will contain a flower bed thirty-five feet in length and at the end of this flower bed a handsome 20 foot electric sign will be placed and a free air tank and hose available at this point. This sign will contain forty 50-watt electric lamps. The building proper will also contain forty 50 watt and one 200 watt lamp. There will also be six 250-watt lamps about the place, one located at either (Continued On Page Three)

THE NITTANY LION IS SEEN IN THE FLESH; HITHERTO THOUGHT MYTHICAL BEAST IS NO OTHER THAN HALF BACK WILSON

We have often heard of the Nittany Lion and up until Saturday he was thought of as a mythical beast. But couldn't get close enough to get hold of the Lion's tail. The second mythical creature of which Penn State gave all the credit for their wonderful athletic prowess and around which all loyal State College men rallied when prowlers from the four corners of the earth marched upon them intent upon massacre.

But there is a real Nittany Lion. We saw him in the flesh Saturday and his name is Wilson. He comes from down in the Sharon country, the Sharpsville High School to be exact. He fits right into the Nittany Lion's empty hide but he would better grace the skin of a charging hippo.

Saturday the U. S. Navy sent its pride of the high seas to the little village of State College in the shadow of Mount Nittany. The navy team is recruited from the four corners of the nation. Strapping fellows they were; a bunch of which every true American could be proud, but it was a case of man against beast. All those State men had breathed the spirit of the Nittany Lion and all the U. S. Navy could not hold them back.

The first period saw the Navy beat-

TRAIN HITS A TRUCK AT CREEK CROSSING; WOMAN IS INJURED

An Overland truck, owned and driven by W. E. Straight, of A. J. Pa., who was enroute back home after a visit with friends in this section, was struck by a train at the New York Central crossing at Clearfield creek this morning about 8 o'clock. The car was very badly damaged. Straight and a Mrs. Ida M. Saylor, also of Avis, who was riding with him, were thrown from the machine and received numerous cuts and bruises.

Straight drove right into the crossing in front of the engine regardless of the fact that the crossing bell was ringing. He said he was unable to see the train by reason of the dense fog.

Mrs. Saylor was pretty badly hurt about the lower limb and was taken to the Clearfield Hospital for treatment.

STEAMER "SAN GIL" REPORTED POUNDING AND IS IN DISTRESS

Boston, Oct. 22.—The Fruit Steamer, San Gil, Boston to Caloa, was reported pounding in heavy seas on a reef off Providence Island, according to a wireless message intercepted here today.

The message read: "Weather bad, ship pounding, passengers taking to boats; help!"

Later a message was received from the steamer Pastores, saying it would arrive about noon at the position given out by the San Gil.

THE PUBLIC LIBRARY AND THE BUSINESS MAN

The business man today who is not fully informed as to all academic chances of his business is indeed ready for the sliding board. Not only does the progressive business man study his own business but he studies the methods used by others in his line. He subscribes to and reads trade journals and loses no opportunity to improve his fund of general information and knowledge. In many cases he cannot find what he wants although he combed every source.

A public library is more than rows of books. It is a general information bureau for knowledge. It places at the service of the business man indexes to all the leading business and technical periodicals as well as many of the periodicals themselves. Also the latest books on industrial efficiency and business methods. It keeps complete files of government and state reports on vital statistics.

It gives to employees of business men the books needed to make them more efficient and to enable them to fit themselves for better jobs. No business organization can rise higher than the ability of its personnel.

ODDS AND ENDS AND THINGS

By J. D. C.

Members of the State of Pennsylvania during the 1923-25 biennium total about $193,000,000, Dr. King, secretary of the commission, declared in an address before the State Chamber of Commerce at Harrisburg on Monday last.

Dr. King also pointed out in his address that changes made in the state budget through the standardization of salaries means an increase of $96,000 in the state's overburden.

The state budget officer showed that out of the state's workers were affected by the classification system and that 1028 of these receive either increases or decreases in their pay.

There were 256 employees who were given decreases as against 772 who received increases.

The figures presented by Dr. King exceeded by $40,000 the estimate made Thursday night by Charles A. Snyder, state treasurer, who said that the change in salaries so far examined indicated a net increase of $90,000.

Dr. Snyder had pointed out that the $90,000 increase was indicated by a general of $30 pay requisitions.

Figures Quoted.

Dr. King's figures and the deductions made from them showing how the $96,000 is arrived at follow in full:

1917 State employees affected by reclassification on 1928 employees affected by changes in salary 896 of these decreases in salary.

772 were given increases in salary. Average of increase, $17 a month. Average of decrease, $16 a month. $432 saved in decreases in monthly salaries a month.

$8,000 represents gain in monthly payroll.

$96,000 is increase granted a year in salaries.

The budget officer said that most of the salary increases were due to promotions to more responsible positions made possible by business reorganization. Continuing he said:

"To this reorganization is also due the fact that better public service is now being given under payrolls that for the first four months of this biennium are running twelve and one-half cents below the average for the first four months of the biennium. To fiscal and administrative reorganization is due the saving to taxpayers on 1148 state salaries alone of one dollar out of eight. To put it in another way one dollar out of eight of the taxpayers' money was going into public political purposes through padded public payroll."

How It Will Be Obtained.

In speaking of the $193,000,000 the state will spend during the 1923-25 biennium, Dr. King said that the money will be obtained from all sources of revenue, including Federal aid, fish, game and motor licenses, in addition to the general taxes, although it does not include about $6,000,000 in deficiencies for the last biennium still unpaid on June 1 last.

"Of each dollar of this sum," Dr. King said, "35 cents goes to highways, 23 cents (22.7) to education and 11 cents (10.9) to welfare work."

The total for education is $6,114,000 of which, the secretary explained, 72 cents of every dollar goes directly into common schools, seven cents into the teachers' retirement fund and nearly 6 cents to normal schools and 9 cents to higher education. The total

ST. JOHN'S LUTHERAN CHURCH ITEMS

The church and Sunday School Institute had a very auspicious beginning yesterday. Two strong and helpful messages were eagerly listened to by large congregations. Rev. Guy E. McCarney used as his text at the morning hour, Rom. 1:16, showing how Paul after viewing all other religions, made the bold declaration that he was not ashamed of the Gospel of Jesus Christ. He made a strong plea that we should be bold enough not only to declare our faith but to live it before the world. At the evening hour he chose as his text 1 Cor. 3:9, using as his theme, "The Teacher—A Reason or an Excuse."

He said the teacher was either a reason or an excuse for the life lived by the scholar. He urged that each teacher and member of the church be a reason for the individual accepting Christ. The teacher's aim should be to let the scholar see the Master teacher through them. This is only possible when Christ has complete control of the teacher's life. Tonight the pastor has planned a surprise for the members and friends of St. John's. Don't miss this. The hour is 7:45. All are welcome.

Chief Thing in Life
There are days in this life worth life and worth death. And oh, what a bright old song it is that goes, "This love, this love, this love that makes the world go round."—Dickens.

Physical Health means Beauty!

HEALTH and beauty go hand in hand. Where the system is run down—the face drawn and haggard—the body limp and listless—beauty is missing. Looks of pity supplant those that might have been gazes of admiration.

Restore your health and beauty will take care of herself. S. S. S.—the rich blood builder—restores the spark of health and lights the blaze of beauty by building red blood cells. The nerve power of your system finds life in these very blood cells. Build more red blood cells and your nerve power will increase. S. S. S. builds them. Rich blood will tingle through your system. That lost charm will return. Your entire system will be repaired. You will be ready to cope with the impurities and blemishes that mar beauty.

Physical health means beauty. S. S. S. does S. S. S. mean beauty. S. S. S. means systems that are free from impurities—pimples, blackheads, acne, boils, eczema, rheumatism, S. S. S. and good health go hand in hand.

S. S. S. is made of pure vegetable ingredients. It is sold at all good drug stores. The large size bottle is more economical.

Make You Feel One Yourself Again

MENIHAN'S ARCH-AID SHOES

Do not dread fallen arches—prevent them!

You may prevent foot troubles without stultifying your natural desire for graceful, stylish footwear!

The painful—and sometimes dangerous affliction of weakened or fallen arches is widespread. It is a modern condition, often occurring unexpectedly, among quite young women. Various corrective shoes have been constructed, designed to give needed relief... But—who can blame a dainty miss or stylish matron for hesitating a long time before she will sacrifice her modish appearance by a loyting "senseless" footwear?

To such women Menihan's Arch-Aid Shoes have made an instant appeal. They have the smart custom lines dictated by fashion. They are beautifully made in every detail. Yet, at the same time, they firmly support the arch, provide correct foot posture and relieve foot strain with scientific efficiency.

A Sturdy Six—Not a Light Six

THE new Jewett Six is strong—with a strength that cannot exist with lighter construction. Jewett Six's strength is shown in its weight. It weighs 2805 pounds—200 to 400 pounds more than "light" sixes of its size. Here's what this weight gives extra:

It gives you a BIG MOTOR—full 50 h.p. Paige-built. It gives you a 6-inch-deep frame, extra cross-braced, rigid. It gives you Paige-Timken axles front and rear, extra stout to stay true; all-steel universal joints; springs 80% of wheelbase; stout wheels; strong bodies.

With such strength it's no wonder

Jewett serves long. And of course Jewett Six rides easier than lighter cars—also performs better, due to its extra power. Try to pass it on a hill. Drive it from 20 to 60 miles an hour in high; accelerate from 5 to 25 miles an hour in 7 seconds in high. Try THAT with ANY other car, regardless of price, and realize how fine Jewett is.

You can get a "Light" Six for $100 less than Jewett; but you can't get Jewett ruggedness, dependability and performance for a penny less than $1065. Many owners say Jewett's equal cannot be had under $1500. Let us prove it to you.

HOW ZEV WON FROM PAPYRUS

HERE'S THE FINISH! Zev, the champion horse, with Earl Cole, driver, won the race at Belmont Park four lengths ahead of Papyrus, England's champion. Result of the $100,000 international match race was never in doubt. Zev jumped to the front and kept the lead throughout. The defeated English three-year-old came into the race a 9 to 10 favorite. Papyrus was ridden by Steve Donoghue, the greatest jockey in the British Isles.

ZEV, AMERICA'S HOPE TEXT OF COOLIDGE

No Doubt of Supremacy. There was no question of Zev's superiority virtually from the start, and also there was no question but that Zev was close to the best form of his brilliant career, the form that had carried him to victory in the Kentucky Derby, the Belmont and other historic stakes this year and gained the colt the title of American three-year-old champion.

When Zev went to the post there was no outward sign remaining of the skin malady whose development within the last few days had caused a sensation in turf circles, a rapid decline in the stock of America's entry and threatened to force Zev's withdrawal in favor of Rear Admiral Cary T. Grayson's My Own. The sleek coat of the racer showed him in fine fettle and his race proved it.

Zev, always a noted "mad horse," demonstrated he was completely at home in the heavy going and tonight it seemed that the story of Papyrus' defeat lay in part at least to the fact that the Derby winner seemed unable to find his best on the sloppy track.

and evasively. It can only be detected and eradicated through a system of local inspectors and police. The national secret service and enforcement officers can cope with the smugglers and the wholesalers, but the peddlers and retailers cannot successfully be suppressed without the assistance of state and municipal police.

The other problem which I wish to lay before you is that of intoxicating liquors. The Eighteenth Amendment was proposed by the Congress in 1917 and its ratification proclaimed in January, 1919.

It prohibits the manufacture, sale or transportation and the importation and exportation of intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes and confers upon the Congress and the states concurrent power to enact enforcement legislation. This power was exercised by the Congress in the National Prohibition Act, which was finally passed in October, 1919, two-thirds of the House of Representatives and Senate present having voted in the affirmative.

Substantially all of the states have likewise passed enforcing acts under the authority of the Eighteenth Amendment. In all of the states there had long been laws regulating the sale of intoxicating liquors, and in many of the states prohibition had already been adopted.

Neither the amendment nor the prohibition act undertakes to relieve the states of their responsibility relative to intoxicating liquors, but, on the other hand, the amendment confers jurisdiction upon them and the prohibition act authorizes state and local prosecuting attorneys to bring injunction proceedings in any court having equity powers in the name of the United States.

The national prohibition act places the duty of its enforcement on the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, his assistants, agents and inspectors. In accordance therewith, there is an assistant commission in direct charge of prohibition enforcement and there are prohibition agents and inspectors in each state. Corresponding provisions will be found in nearly all state laws.

Constitution Binding on All. The Constitution and the laws of the nation and of the several states are binding alike upon all the inhabitants. It is the Constitution which we have given our oaths to support—the Constitution which requires of the President that he shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed and the state constitutions lay similar obligations upon their governors.

The Constitution and the laws are perfectly plain, and the directions which they contain to the President and the governors are equally plain. I ought to understand just what duties the laws have imposed. I ought to comprehend that when laws have been made, there is, and can be, no question about the duty of executives to enforce them with such instruments and by such means as the law provides for securing enforcement. They have no alternative. They cannot be criticized for doing their duty. This is not a political question; it cannot be made a political question. If there be any principle which has been established by time, by common consent, by the unqualified assent of fundamental and statute law, it is that executives are the law-enforcing officers of this nation. If this were not so these problems must be taken directly to the American people. This government is their government; these laws are their laws. They have formed their government and enacted their laws, with all due solemnity, to promote their welfare and protect their liberties. They are not a nation of inebriates; they are not a people who can be changed with being hypocrites. They have no patience with anarchy. They are a sober, frank and candid people. They have respect and reverence for duly constituted authority. To them the law is a rule of action. These fundamental national characteristics are not going to be changed. These fundamental conceptions are going to remain permanent.

The great body of the people are thoroughly law-abiding.

People Going to Obey Law.

This great law-abiding element of the nation is entitled to and needs protection. I propose to give that support and protection to the limit.

there would be no warrant for the present gathering. I can conceive of no opinion on this in which every responsible element must concur.

No provision of the Eighteenth Amendment, or the national prohibition act, contemplates any surrender of state responsibility. Under them prohibition becomes obligatory in all states, for the Constitution and the laws made in pursuance thereof, are specifically declared, by the Federal Constitution, to be the supreme law of the land. The sure binding upon every inhabitant. But there still remains to the states the power, so fully reserved in the Eighteenth Amendment, to pass enforcing acts, and there is still on them a grave responsibility to enact and execute enforcement laws, which may not always be exercised, but which can never be avoided.

The complementary duty to the enforcement of the law is still left to the states. That goes with the people themselves. The Eighteenth Amendment prohibits manufacture, transportation, sale, export and import. These are the commercial activities. It is in intoxicating liquors, for beverage purposes, especially dangerous. It is in this field that most of the difficulty exists. The main problem arises from those who are bent on making money by an illegal traffic in intoxicating liquors. If this could be eliminated, the rest would be easy.

These problems must be taken directly to the American people. This government is their government; these laws are their laws. They have formed their government and enacted their laws, with all due solemnity, to promote their welfare and protect their liberties. They are not a nation of inebriates; they are not a people who can be changed with being hypocrites. They have no patience with anarchy. They are a sober, frank and candid people. They have respect and reverence for duly constituted authority. To them the law is a rule of action. These fundamental national characteristics are not going to be changed. These fundamental conceptions are going to remain permanent.

The great body of the people are thoroughly law-abiding.

People Going to Obey Law.

This great law-abiding element of the nation is entitled to and needs protection. I propose to give that support and protection to the limit.

provided by the Constitution and the law of the land, against every element. The executives are required to enforce the law. The machinery for the enforcement of the law is the supplied by the acts of Congress and the state legislatures. It is the duty of the state legislatures to see that the machinery is used to the full extent of its capacity to secure the enforcement of the law. It is certainly my own purpose so to use it. The people are going to continue to yield obedience to the law. This principle will continue to prevail whenever the American people shall pass judgment upon it, because it is the foundation of all their institutions.

We cannot make progress in these problems by this means. A candid consideration of the situation is not going to be decided by political parties. They are not going to be answered by a result of political intrigue. They are not going to be determined by executive action on either side. They are to be solved in accordance with the principles of the Constitution and the laws of the land. It is the duty of the American people to see that the machinery for the enforcement of the law is used to the full extent of its capacity to secure the enforcement of the law. It is certainly my own purpose so to use it. The people are going to continue to yield obedience to the law. This principle will continue to prevail whenever the American people shall pass judgment upon it, because it is the foundation of all their institutions.

They have formed their government and enacted their laws, with all due solemnity, to promote their welfare and protect their liberties. They are not a nation of inebriates; they are not a people who can be changed with being hypocrites. They have no patience with anarchy. They are a sober, frank and candid people. They have respect and reverence for duly constituted authority. To them the law is a rule of action. These fundamental national characteristics are not going to be changed. These fundamental conceptions are going to remain permanent.

The great body of the people are thoroughly law-abiding.

People Going to Obey Law.

This great law-abiding element of the nation is entitled to and needs protection. I propose to give that support and protection to the limit.

and the new gas station at each of the four corners of the Clearfield town square. The new gas station will be used for these lights and the whole plant will present a pleasing appearance. A step is being taken to install a new gas station at the corner of the town square.

The plant will have a capacity of four 100 gallon gas tanks, buried under the ground in accordance with the provisions of Pennsylvania law governing such installations. Four 500 foot sections of pipe will also be installed. The new gas station will be built with gas and oil being served by separate lines, and the gas pump having a capacity of 100 gallons and a half inch nozzle. The plant will be complete and will be in operation in a few days. It will not only be a convenience to the public but also an advantage to that end of town.

Political Issues. Next political issue cannot be handled by the leaders of political parties, and real ones cannot be decided by political parties. The real issues of the day declare themselves and come out of the depths of that deep which we call public opinion.

Coughing—a futile waste of strength—

MEDICAL authorities agree that coughing aggravates the irritation in throat and lungs that is causing the cough and therefore only makes you cough the more. Control the cough and the irritation is soon relieved.

Dr. King's New Discovery stops coughing quickly by gently stimulating the mucous membranes to throw off clogging secretions. Then it lessens and effectively the violent throat and chest spasms are quieted, and the inflammation is then quickly cleared away. It has an agreeable taste.

The predicament that the individual Democrat finds himself in is that he is all dressed up and has no place to go. The party might be likened to European politics, where parties are divided into right and left wings. Certainly the "premiere of a party" is not the right wing and not desiring to be harsh with the left to call it the wrong wing instead of the left wing. Probably a better designation for this quickly set up organization, with its sole object the judgeship, would be the "short" wing. Cleaveland County Democrats never have, and never will, follow the "short" wing.

to Norris leave from a shoe string netted Clearfield another touch down. The try for point was unsuccessful when Captain Danne's kick went wide. Score 13-0.

Clearfield again kicked, Capt. Danne's kick being caught by Center Cooper of the visitors. Norris broke up an enemy pass. Blase gained two yards at center. Gilland gained a yard thru center. The visitors gained 15 yards on a forward pass and a touch down. Lambert smeared a Ridgway play for four yards as the quarter ended with the ball on Clearfield's 35 yard line and score 13-0.

Second Quarter.

On two plays the visitors placed the ball on Clearfield's 20-yard line, where they fumbled and Mann recovered for Clearfield. Wilson ripped off 10 yards thru right tackle. Norris crashed thru center for 1 yard. Barrie, aided by perfect interference and by the fine clipping of Wilson and Davis, then sprinted 65 yards to the 10 yard touch down. Barrie's kick for point was good, making the score 19-0.

Ridgway received again. Thurston kicked to the visitors 20-yard line. Blase returned the oval 5 yards. The visitors failed to gain and punted to the local 35-yard line. Clearfield's turning a yard but suffering a 15-yard penalty. H. S. failed to gain on several yardage and punted out on 40 yards on Ridgway's 48-yard line. Two Ridgway passes rounded the other side gained 11 yards and first down. Another enemy pass was intercepted by Wilson and Thurston smeared a play for a 5-yard loss. Barrie kicked down two enemy passes. Lambert caught a 15-yard play for 1 yard as the half ended. Score 19-0.

Third Quarter.

Clearfield opened the third quarter by receiving Gilland's kick to the local 35-yard line, where it went out of bounds and the visitor was forced to kick a punt. They kicked to Clearfield's 20-yard line, where Lambert recovered Mitchell's fumble. Barrie gained 15 yards thru center. A Mitchell strike to Wilson procured 3 yards. Barrie slipped off left tackle for yards. He rose to Wilson gained 5 yards at right tackle but Clearfield was awarded 15 yards. Barrie's art and right and left yards. A Clearfield pass was intercepted by Wilson. Clearfield punted to the visitor's 30-yard line and Wilson was stopped in his tracks by Wilson, who was injured in the play. Wilson returned to the game. Barrie then gained 21 yards on eight plays. Clearfield held and Gilland drove back to the 10 yard line and Anderson apparently open for a yard but Wilson's tackle. However, Anderson grabbed the pass and started for the goal. Norris pounced on him but he was tackled by Wilson. Wilson was successful in the try for point with a successful kick. Score 19-0.

Fourth Quarter.

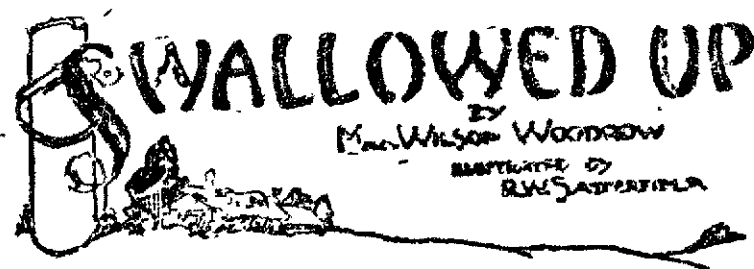

Gilland gained 4 yards and Blase gained 3 more. Mann then broke through and spilled an enemy formation. Ridgway again tried the passing game on Lambert intercepted a forward pass and dashed 43 yards to score. The try for point was good when Mitchell kicked a perfect placement kick. Score 26-0.

Coch-Bond sent in a number of second string linemen. Clearfield kicked to the visitors' 30-yard line and Blase returned it 2 yards. The visitors then reacted to passing but failed to gain because of playing of Clearfield back. Mitchell then intercepted an enemy pass and sprinted 20 yards before being tackled. Barrie gained 7 yards thru right tackle. Dale gained 7 yards but fumbled and K. Johnston recovered for Clearfield. Wilson gained 2 yards thru the line. Dale fumbled thru right tackle for 10 yards. Barrie picked up 4 yards thru left tackle. Dale then scored on a short back thru tackle. The try for point was good when Mitchell kicked a perfect placement kick. Score 26-0.

Clearfield again kicked to the visitors' 18-yard line. Wilson tackled. The visitors failed to gain on three plays. Ridgway then punted to the 50 yard line. Mitchell returned the ball 6 yards. Clearfield gained 22 yards but Mitchell was injured and fumbled, the enemy recovering. Mitchell resumed play, but Mann, the local center, had to be taken out on account of injuries. Ridgway failed to gain and punted to Clearfield's 10-yard line. Barrie gained 15 yards as the final whistle blew. Score 26-0.

SWALLOWED UP BY DRIFTING CLOUDS - CLEAR, BY THE RIDGWAY COMPANY

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Hope Ranger is abducted and her father, Loring Ranker, offers a reward of one hundred thousand dollars for his daughter's return. Receiving a letter from the abductors, Ranger deposits a hundred thousand dollars worth of bonds in a specified place according to instructions.

Now go on with the story. "Well, they're not in the attic nor yet on this floor: we know that," said a voice. "And Kelly and Weeks don't seem to have had any better luck downstairs and in the cellar."

The sound of their voices grew fainter. Then they heard other voices raised in argument in the hall downstairs. There was more movement, and finally the banging of the front door. The men were gone.

Hope and Kelsey waited in that unearthly silence for a long time; some one might have been left behind, might even be in the room.

At last, careful not to make the least noise, she slid back the panel and looked out.

She made small, rustling noises opening the cracker box. "Good thing I brought a knife. I'm a wise, old campaigner."

She stifled her laughter. "Oh, it's hard to spread jam in the dark. Give me your hand."

Their fingers touched, and she laid a cracker in his palm. "I've never tasted anything quite so good," he affirmed.

"Not I. The crackers are musty, but it improves the flavor."

"You were wonderful to think of them. But you always are—the most wonderful!" His voice broke. He caught her, and held her to him.

"What a night!" He buried his face in her hair. "But they haven't got you. If they do, they'll have to kill me first."

Her arms were about his neck, her cheek against his. "I almost killed you with that car," she said. "If I had, I shouldn't have cared if they had taken me."

She ran her light fingers over his eyes. "His dear, broken head," she said sadly.

"Oh!" She drew back with a sudden recollection. "I forgot; we both forgot. That envelope those men gave us!"

She struck a match. The light made them blink. He ripped open the envelope.

"Liberty bonds!" with a gasp. "A bunch of them."

She struck another match, and held it until it burned her fingers. "An even hundred thousand dollars," he said in an awed tone. "Ten bonds of ten thousand apiece."

"A hundred thousand!" She clutched his shoulder. "Why, that's my ransom. It must be it!"

"We're going to get out of here," he said stoutly. "They'll be searching the woods for a while yet, but they'll get tired of that. Then will be our chance to slip out. Are you sleepy?"

"No, I'm too excited."

"Well, I am. No sleep for two nights, and this crack over my head. Here, take my watch, and wake me at the end of an hour. Then you must sleep for the same time. We'll need clear heads and all our strength, once we get started."

"Let me see the time." She struck another match. "It's just eleven o'clock. I'll wake you promptly at twelve. Now go to bed."

CHAPTER XX

HOPE sat in the cramped dark space beside the sleeper, her chin on her drawn-up knees. Her hands clasped about them, listening to his slow, regular breathing.

She drew out the watch and glanced at its luminous dial. Only ten minutes after eleven.

She resumed her musings. Just when she became conscious of the approach of a motor, she could not tell.

She debated a moment whether to wake Kelsey, but deciding to make sure first that an actual danger threatened them, she softly pushed back the panel and slipped out into the room and over to the window.

The car, a speedy roadster, containing two men, whirled in at the gate and up the weed-grown drive, and stopped with a grinding of the brakes almost directly beneath her. Out from the shadow of the porch came a man and walked toward it.

A THIN, ELDERLY MAN GOT OUT AND STEPPED TOWARD BRISTOW.

Kelsey's prudence in not leaving their retreat so soon was justified. The searchers had left some one on guard. The driver of the car jumped out to meet him; and as they moved forward into the glare of the headlights, Hope shrank back trembling.

The figure in the long, light motor coat was Bristow.

Never taking her eyes off them, and with infinite pains, Hope unlatched the window and raised the lower sash a fraction. By a miracle it lifted easily, and without a squeak.

Kneeling on the floor, she laid her ear close to the sill. The voices floated up to her distinctly.

"No doubt about their having given you boneheads the slip," Bristow was saying. He did not raise his voice nor stammer, but the man cringed at his tone. "You're sure, they didn't get into the house?"

"I don't see how they could have. We went over it with a fine-tooth comb."

"Then it's no use spending further time here. You say the others have been down in the woods for an hour? That ought to be long enough to look under every bush and behind every stump. Call them in."

The man drew a whistle from his pocket and blew piercingly on it. Bristow was tramping up and down the drive below. She saw him stop short and turn a head toward the road in the direction opposite to that which he himself had come. She caught at the same time the thrumming of another motor.

"Who's that?" Bristow exclaimed. He had not long to wait for his answer. The car, a physician's ragabout, turned to at the gate and drove up. A thin, elderly man got out and stepped toward Bristow.

"Ah, Dr. Creamer, you Bristow reverted to his more staid and courtly manner, although there was interrogation in his tone.

"I see you got ahead of me," said the other. "Was it a serious injury?"

"Injury?" Bristow stared at him. "I don't know what you're talking about. I'm out after two runaway patients."

"So?" Creamer clicked his tongue commiseratingly. "But if you call to come out, drive to an automobile at the time." His voice like himself was rather mild and vague.

"Oh, I see," Bristow nodded. "That must have been my two patients. They took my car and made a hiding-wood of it just the other side of the hedge there. But, abruptly, 'who gave you word of this accident, Doctor?'"

"Well, that was the funny part of it," Creamer began in a slow way. "It was out of a call, and when I got back my wife told me that Tom Simmonds, the garage man, had been trying to get me. I called Tom up, and he said that about ten o'clock some fellow on a motor-cycle had come dashing up to his place and wanted to know how to get to the nearest doctor, saying there had been a terrible accident just this way—car overturned with a man and a woman in it, the woman apparently not hurt but the man, either dead or dying."

"Did Simmonds tell you the name on the motor-cycle?" Bristow interjected.

"That's the joke I was just coming to. Tom, it seems, had been talking over the telephone with Ben not two minutes before. You remember Ben, Doctor? Moved away and started a garage up in Westchester County. Well, he had been swindled earlier in the evening by a slick stranger that came along and sold him an imitation jeweled watch.

He gave Tom a description of the chap, and asked him to look out for him if he ever happened to come this way. And, sir, Tom had hardly got through talking to him and rung off, when in puffed up a fellow with this story of the accident."

"Tom's a deputy sheriff, you know, and he wouldn't swindle right over to the calaboose. He wasn't inclined to take much stock in anything the fellow said, but the man was so persistent about this accident, that he finally telephoned to me."

"When I get my fawn birds, I may drop over and have a talk with the fellow. At present I'm too busy directing the search. We tracked them to the point where they had overturned the car, but since then they seem to have vanished into the air. It's certain they're not in the house, and we've been going through the woods for over an hour without any results."

"Look here, Doctor," Creamer laid his hand on Bristow's arm; "wasn't it from the Rose heirs that Loring Ranger bought this property? I've got a sort of a dim recollection of a story I heard when I first started in practice here, that one of the Rose houses was built with a secret hiding-place in it for escape from the Indians."

"What?" Bristow's voice was like the clang of steel on iron. "You see," he explained to Creamer. "I've got to get those two without loss of time. The woman is a sister of my head nurse, Miss Copley. She's in a terrible state about the girl. The man is a dangerous homicidal maniac. He made a murderous attack on me just before he left. I don't dare to think what may happen."

Hope knelt at the window from into immobility. "That was the end of their brave adventure. They would be taken. He realized it impersonally, but it didn't seem to mean anything to her. One great, heaving sob broke through her lips."

In the pocket of her jacket was a pencil and some of the paper she had used in her senseless scribbling. Hastily she wrote on one of the sheets:

Come Into The Living Room

Chill evenings are just around the corner. Family life naturally turns to and centers in the living room. What a room it must be! An intimate place of comfortable home atmosphere in which family and guest may feel free to relax, read, think, chat or—do nothing. To prove equal to these demands there must be frequently added something new—a beautiful mirror, a softly glowing lamp, a different colored rug, another chair, an odd table. And you will find that a little time given to wandering through the charming array of these things that we have here will offer you many a suggestion for the beautifying of the living room in your home.

It Was Humble.

Henry Ford has followed other successful men in purchasing the home of his boyhood. Henry has made his old home just as it was when he was a little bare-legged boy coming to his mother to have her mend a tear in his pants. The same old furniture, even the same clock on the mantel-piece has been put there in memory of his darling mother. If only Henry could bring her back as she was then, he would give all his millions.

Robin Hood's Proper Name.

The proper name of Robin Hood was Robert Fitzooth. The first he was knighted into Robin, and the second into Hood, omitting the Fitz, which is Norman for son (modern French being "Monsieur"), since having been declared an outlaw, he was not willing to recognize his claims to Norman descent. That he was really the Earl of Huntington, as some have said, is a mere legend.

At Long Range.

A gossip is never a gossip repeating remarks to you. We repeat by heart only when accused of this to justify ourselves by saying: "Gossip, gossip, is a social attack conducted on the approved principles of modern warfare; you are not supposed to see the person at whom you are shooting." Baby's Eyes.
In Budapest recently a child dropped into the eyes of a new baby a 10 per cent solution of a dilute of silver instead of the one per cent solution that is obligatory. The result, of course, was destruction of the eyeball and total blindness. The prevent the recurrence of such a disaster the highest sanitary authorities are ordering that a one per cent solution of silver acetate be used instead of the silver nitrate. For the fact that it is impossible to make stronger solution of the former.

The Ill Wind.
The newly elected mayor of a country town was about to make his first journey in that capacity through the place. The townspeople had arranged that from an arch of flowers, which he was to pass, a floral crown should be hung, surmounted by the words, "He well deserves it." But the wind blew away the crown, and when the mayor passed under the arch only a rope with a noose at the end of it dangled, with "He well deserves it."

Talking Shop.
An automobile dealer telephoned a friend to announce the arrival of his new baby. "We just received a new model at our house," he said. "Happy little job. All pink and white. Make a fine little runabout in a couple of years." Uses the Klaxon a bit too much, but that's to be expected. Mother and child both hitting on it. "Well well," replied his friend, a newspaper man. "You didn't expect a newspaper man to be a father, did you? We got out a little extra home edition ourselves a few days ago. It's the best way to furnish a house."

COOPER TOWNSHIP HIGH

DEFEATS LOCK HAVEN JUNIOR VARSITY 39-4

In a fast one-sided game Cooper Township High School defeated the Lock Haven High junior varsity last Saturday. Throughout the first half of the game the ball was always in Cooper's possession; Lock Haven failed to make a first down. The first half ended 20-0 in favor of Cooper. At the beginning of the second half Lock Haven received and succeeded in making two first downs but then lost the ball to Cooper. Only one time did the Lock Haven boys come within reach of their opponent's goal. This occurred when Hall of Cooper fumbled a punt which Lock Haven recovered on Cooper's 5-yard line. Lock Haven bucked Cooper's line twice with no success. On the third down Lock Haven fumbled and lost the ball to Cooper.

Hall, Adamits, and Noll were the outstanding players for Cooper. Hall made a spectacular 70-yard run for a touchdown; Noll made several pretty runs after completing some almost impossible forward passes, and Adamits bucked Lock Haven's line for many gains.

The game was well played by both teams, only two penalties being enforced for offside. Touchdowns: Hall 3, Adamits 1, Noll 2. Referee, Mandolia, West Chester Normal. Umpire, Miller, Penn State. Head linesman, Schaeffer.

English Influence.
One day an old Kurdish chief, with a heavily armed escort, rode into the grounds of the British legation in Teheran, Persia. He had a little grandson with him, "a richly dressed boy of about nine who, in addition to a dagger and sword, had a couple of the most up-to-date revolvers stuck in his belt." The old chief wanted to send his grandson to Harrow school in England. The matter was discussed through an interpreter, "and after countless complaints and expressions of thanks; the well-looking boy, with the old chief and the boy at their head, rode away."

Japanese Women's Pillows.
The cedar wood pillows found in the tomb of old King Tai Anki Amen in Egypt, exactly resemble the wooden pillows in use today in Japan. It must be difficult to find any sleep inducing yssue in these so-called cushions, and one must be much determined to sleep to be able to do so under the conditions. The reason for the hard substance of these pillows is explained by the imperative necessity of not disturbing the complicated humors of the Japanese women. Only the women of the middle class still use these hard pillows, as they do their hair only once a month and cannot bear to see it untidy between times.

YOU CAN QUICKLY LIMBER UP

SORE, STIFF, SWOLLEN JOINTS

Even Chronic Rheumatic Swelling in Knees, Elbows, Shoulders or Finger Joints Yield to the Mighty Powerful Influence of JOINT-EASE.

It's here, right in town and every drugstore has it.

It's a low price remedy, to be sure, but that doesn't stop it from taking the kinks, lameness or torture out of your troubled joints.

Joint-Ease is the name, so called because it is compounded solely for the purpose of relieving all joint ailments.

Just rub it on the tormented, lame joint and in just a few seconds it will penetrate to the bone and broken comfort comes quick.

If absorbed instantly and so clean and stainless that you can rub it on often and get there a really new more quickly, when the joint is inflamed and the agony.

Beir's such a powerful counter irritant, it can't help bringing speedy and helpful result in congestion, sore throat, chest colds, lumbago and neuralgia much more than almost any remedy.

But you must remember that it is for joint afflictions that it is mostly diagnosed and its helpfulness will be soon felt after all ordinary treatment and other treatments have failed.

Just rub it on the tormented, lame joint and in just a few seconds it will penetrate to the bone and broken comfort comes quick.

SECOND ISSUE WILL MEAN 1335 MILES OF NEW HIGHWAYS

Miles of Mud to be Eased When Voters Approve Road Loan.

COUNTIES TO BENEFIT THROUGH 50-50 PLAN

William Jennings, Harrisburg, Meant Very Little Opposition to Proposal.

Not less than 1335 additional miles of durable, modern type road will be built in Pennsylvania if the voters November 5 approve the proposition to bond the state for an additional $100,000,000, according to William Jennings, secretary of the Pennsylvania Highway Organization.

Under the approval of the first bond issue in 1913, said Mr. Jennings, Pennsylvania has built over 2500 miles of modern type road. Some of the modern type road has been built by cash for the major portion of it has been under the direction of the State Highway Department. No other state in the Union has made such a record.

There is little doubt in his mind that the voters will give the new bond issue an even greater majority than did the first one. No opposition is expected. The proposed road loan is a political issue. It is not being fought by any political party or for any party.

The list of counties which comprise the Association of Highway Organizations, in order of their bond issue, is as follows: Adams, Allegheny, Armstrong, Berks, Bradford, Bucks, Cambria, Carbon, Chester, Columbia, Franklin, Fulton, Luzerne, Lycoming, Mifflin, Monroe, Montgomery, Northampton, Northumberland, Perry, Potter, Schuylkill, Snyder, Sullivan, Susquehanna, Tioga, Union, Warren, York, and Adams.

Under the 50-50 plan, the state will contribute 50 percent of the cost of the road and the county will contribute the other 50 percent. The plan is a very simple one and it is expected that it will be approved by the voters.

Under the 50-50 plan, the state will contribute 50 percent of the cost of the road and the county will contribute the other 50 percent. The plan is a very simple one and it is expected that it will be approved by the voters.

The proposed road loan is a political issue. It is not being fought by any political party or for any party.

The list of counties which comprise the Association of Highway Organizations, in order of their bond issue, is as follows: Adams, Allegheny, Armstrong, Berks, Bradford, Bucks, Cambria, Carbon, Chester, Columbia, Franklin, Fulton, Luzerne, Lycoming, Mifflin, Monroe, Montgomery, Northampton, Northumberland, Perry, Potter, Schuylkill, Snyder, Sullivan, Susquehanna, Tioga, Union, Warren, York, and Adams.

Curwensville's Own Column

The Curwensville H. S. football team met their Waterloo at Tyrone Saturday afternoon by a score of 19 to 7. For unfairness the Tyrone team has no parallel, and before the first quarter was finished it was easily discernible to the experienced eye that they were resorting to all of the dirty tricks known in football. The first move they made was to have ruled out of the game several of the C. H. S. players, the claim being that they were over the age limit, which was not the case at all, but Black in color to have placed a question in their demand and Olson was not permitted to play, although he was a legitimate high school student and under the age.

The referee was an inexperienced man at the game (this statement was made by a Tyrone player) and was determined by his rulings and decisions to have Tyrone win the game at all hazards, his rottenness being even greater than that of Gilliam at Du Bois last season. His penalizing of the Curwensville team were unjust in several instances. Curwensville was not even permitted to have a snap and Tyrone howled themselves hoarse when a timekeeper was defamed and even at that our boys were penalized when Robinson entered the field to ask a question after play had ceased.

At the time for the second half to begin Tyrone was permitted five minutes grace before entering the field when the rule book expressly provides that a team not appearing on the field when time is called suffers a penalty of 25 yards, yet the Tyrone referee would not allow the forfeit. This was only one of the many dirty tricks pulled off.

The Tyrone team did not report to the referee, but grabbed the ball and held him. Of course the home referee did not see anything like this, but it was very apparent to Tyrone spectators.

Several of the C. H. S. men were knocked out early in the game by the roughneck tactics used by their opponents. One Tyrone man who knows a thing or two about football told the writer that Curwensville people need not be ashamed of its team because of its defeat, as the C. H. S. boys had not belied the report received of them a few days previous to the game that they were all good, clean players who would not resort to any dirty tricks in order to win any game or number of games.

Curwensville supported its team royally at the Tyrone game Saturday, there being more people from Curwensville on the grounds than from Tyrone's population. The boys are loud in their praise of the fine treatment they received at the P. R. R. Y. M. C. A. and also at the restaurant where they took their meals. Despite the ill treatment received at the hands of the Tyrone team on the ball field Curwensville bears no malice to Tyrone, and feel that if their opponents are disposed to play a rough game, it is no reason why they should follow their example. But the battle is over and if Tyrone is satisfied at the manner in which the game was won the pleasure is all theirs.

With Lloyd George's special train enroute to Indianapolis, Oct. 22—Southern hospitality, David Lloyd George thinks, is worthy of all the praise sung in its behalf. As he set out today to resume his speaking tour he said he never would forget the fried chicken, corn cakes, oyster soup and other southern delicacies he got during his two days stay in Louisville.

His daughter, Miss Megan also left Louisville with regret, for while there she did not have to attend a single speech making function, but was permitted just to play about at the country home of Judge Bingum, host to the Lloyd Georges.

ODDS AND ENDS AND THINGS

By J. D. C.

... of the State of Pennsylvania during the 1923-25 biennium was about $193,000,000, Dr. King, secretary of the commission, declared in an address before the State Chamber of Commerce at Harrisburg on Tuesday last.

Dr. King also pointed out in his address that changes made in the state budget through the standardization of salaries means an increase of $96,000 in the state's overburden.

The state budget officer showed that out of the state's workers were affected by the classification system and that 1028 of these receive either increases or decreases in their pay.

There were 256 employees who were given decreases as against 772 who received increases.

The figures presented by Doctor King exceeded by $40,000 the estimate made Thursday night by Charles A. Snyder, state treasurer, who said that the change in salaries so far examined indicated a net increase of $90,000.

Dr. Snyder had pointed out that the $90,000 increase was indicated by a general of $30 pay requisitions.

Figures Quoted.

Doctor King's figures and the deductions made from them showing how the $96,000 is arrived at follow in full:

1917 State employees affected by reclassification on

1928 employees affected by changes in salary

96 of those decreases in salary.

772 were given increases in salary. Average of increase, $17 a month. Average of decrease, $16 a month. $432 saved in decreases in monthly pay.

$12,452 represents increases in salaries a month.

$8,000 represents gain in monthly payroll.

$96,000 is increase granted a year in salaries.

The budget officer said that most of the salary increases were due to promotions to more responsible positions made possible by business reorganization. Continuing he said:

"To this reorganization is also due the fact that better public service is now being given under payrolls that for the first four months of this biennium are running twelve and one-half cents below the average for the first four months of the biennium. To fiscal and administrative reorganization is due the saving to taxpayers on 1147 state salaries alone of one dollar out of eight. To put it in another way one dollar out of eight of the taxpayers' money was going into public political purposes through padded public payroll."

How It Will Be Obtained.

In speaking of the $193,000,000 the state will spend during the 1923-25 biennium, Doctor King said that the money will be obtained from all sources of revenue, including Federal aid, fish, game and motor licenses, in addition to the general taxes, although it does not include about $6,000,000 in deficiencies for the last biennium still unpaid on June 1 last.

"Of each dollar of this sum," Doctor King said, "35 cents goes to highways, 23 cents (22.7) to education and 11 cents (10.9) to welfare work."

The total for education is $6,114,000 of which, the secretary explained, 72 cents of every dollar goes directly into common schools, seven cents into the teachers' retirement fund and nearly 6 cents to normal schools and 9 cents to higher education. The to-

ST JOHN'S LUTHERAN CHURCH ITEMS

The church and Sunday School Institute had a very auspicious beginning yesterday. Two strong and helpful messages were eagerly listened to by large congregations. Rev. Guy E. McCarney used as his text at the morning hour, Rom. 1:16, showing how Paul after viewing all other religions, made the bold declaration that he was not ashamed of the Gospel of Jesus Christ. He made a strong plea that we should be bold enough not only to declare our faith but to live it before the world. At the evening hour he chose as his text 1 Cor. 3:9, using as his theme, "The Teacher—A Reason or an Excuse."

He said the teacher was either a reason or an excuse for the life lived by the scholar. He urged that each teacher and member of the church be a reason for the individual accepting Christ. The teacher's aim should be to let the scholar see the Master teacher through them. This is only possible when Christ has complete control of the teacher's life. Tonight the pastor has planned a surprise for the members and friends of St. John's. Don't miss this. The hour is 7:45. All are welcome.

tal cost of administration is a little more than one and one-half cents out of each dollar.

Will Spend $21,000,000.

Institutions associated with the Department of Welfare will spend about $21,000,000 Doctor King said, and of each dollar of this, 26 cents goes to medical and surgical hospitals, 80 cents to hospitals and schools for mental defectives, 18 cents to penal and correctional institutions and 9 cents to mothers' assistance. With a little more than one and one-half for departmental administration.

Highways will spend about $7,500,000, he declared and of each dollar, 42 cents will go for maintenance and replacement in the state highway system, 28 1/2 cents for new construction, 11 1/2 cents for state aid in county, township and borough construction, 12 cents for the sinking fund, 2 1/2 cents for intercounty and interstate bridges and five cents for departmental administration.

HEALTH and beauty go hand in hand. Where the system is run down—the face drawn and haggard—the body limp and listless—beauty is missing. Looks of pity supplant those that might have been gazes of admiration.

Restore your health and beauty will take care of herself. S. S. S.—the rich blood builder—relieves the dark of health and lights the blaze of beauty by building red blood cells. The nerve power of your system finds life in these very blood cells. Build more red blood cells and your nerve power will increase. S. S. S. builds them. Rich blood will tingle through your system. That lost charm will return. Your entire system will be repaired. You will be ready to cope with the impurities and blemishes that mar beauty.

Physical health means beauty. S. S. S. does S. S. S. mean beauty. S. S. S. means systems that are free from impurities—pimples, blackheads, acne, boils, eczema, rheumatism, S. S. S. and good health go hand in hand.

MENIHAN'S ARCH-AID SHOES

Do not dread fallen arches—prevent them!

You may prevent foot troubles without stultifying your natural desire for graceful, stylish footwear!

The painful—and sometimes dangerous affliction of weakened or fallen arches is widespread. It is a modern condition, often occurring unexpectedly, among quite young women. Various corrective shoes have been constructed, designed to give needed relief... But—who can blame a dainty miss or stylish matron for hesitating a long time before she will sacrifice hermodish appearance by a loyting "sensible" footwear?

To such women Menihan's Arch-Aid Shoes have made an instant appeal. They have the smart custom lines dictated by fashion. They are beautifully made in every detail. Yet, at the same time, they firmly support the arch, provide correct foot posture and relieve foot strain with scientific efficiency.

HOW ZEV WON FROM PAPYRUS

HERE'S THE FINISH! Zev, the champion horse, with Earl Cole, driver, won the race at Belmont Park four lengths ahead of Papyrus, England's champion. Result of the $100,000 international match race was never in doubt. Zev jumped to the front and kept the lead throughout. The defeated English three-year-old came into the race a 9 to 10 favorite. Papyrus was ridden by Steve Donoghue, the greatest jockey in the British Isles.

No Doubt of Supremacy. There was no question of Zev's superiority virtually from the start, and also there was no question but that Zev was close to the best form of his brilliant career, the form that had carried him to victory in the Kentucky Derby, the Belmont and other historic stakes this year and gained the colt the title of American three-year-old champion.

When Zev went to the post there was no outward sign remaining of the skin malady whose development within the last few days had caused a sensation in turf circles, a rapid decline in the stock of America's entry and threatened to force Zev's withdrawal in favor of Rear Admiral Cary T. Grayson's My Own. The sleek coat of the racer showed him in fine fettle and his race proved it.

Zev, always a noted "mad horse," demonstrated he was completely at home in the heavy going and tonight it seemed that the story of Papyrus' defeat lay in part at least to the fact that the Derby winner seemed unable to find his best on the sloppy track.

and evasively. It can only be detected and eradicated through a system of local inspectors and police. The national secret service and enforcement officers can cope with the smugglers and the wholesalers, but the peddlers and retailers cannot successfully be suppressed without the assistance of state and municipal police.

The other problem which I wish to lay before you is that of intoxicating liquors. The Eighteenth Amendment was proposed by the Congress in 1917 and its ratification proclaimed in January, 1919.

It prohibits the manufacture, sale or transportation and the importation and exportation of intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes, and confers upon the Congress and the states concurrent power to enact enforcement legislation. This power was exercised by the Congress in the National Prohibition Act, which was finally passed in October, 1919, two-thirds of the House of Representatives and Senate present having voted in the affirmative.

Substantially all of the states have likewise passed enforcing acts under the authority of the Eighteenth Amendment. In all of the states there had long been laws regulating the sale of intoxicating liquors, and in many of the states prohibition had already been adopted.

Neither the amendment nor the prohibition act undertakes to relieve the states of their responsibility relative to intoxicating liquors, but, on the other hand, the amendment confers jurisdiction upon them and the prohibition act authorizes state and local prosecuting attorneys to bring injunction proceedings in any court having equity powers in the name of the United States.

The national prohibition act places the duty of its enforcement on the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, his assistants, agents and inspectors. In accordance therewith, there is an assistant commission in direct charge of prohibition enforcement and there are prohibition agents and inspectors in each state. Corresponding provisions will be found in nearly all state laws.

Constitution Binding on All. The Constitution and the laws of the nation and of the several states are binding alike upon all the inhabitants. It is the Constitution which we have given our oaths to support—the Constitution which requires of the President that he shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed and the state constitutions lay similar obligations upon their governors.

The Constitution and the laws are perfectly plain, and the directions which they contain to the President and the governors are equally plain. I ought to understand just what duties the laws have imposed. I ought to comprehend that when laws have been made, there is, and can be, no question about the duty of executives to enforce them with such instruments and by such means as the law provides for securing enforcement. They have no alternative. They cannot be criticized for doing their duty. This is not a political question; it cannot be made a political question. If there be any principle which has been established by time, by common consent, by the unqualified assent of fundamental and statute law, it is that executives are the law-enforcing officers of this nation. If this were not so these problems must be taken directly to the American people. This government is their government; these laws are their laws. They have formed their government and enacted their laws, with all due solemnity, to promote their welfare and protect their liberties. They are not a nation of inebriates; they are not a people who can be changed with being hypocrites. They have no patience with anarchy. They are a sober, frank and candid people. They have respect and reverence for duly constituted authority. To them the law is a rule of action. These fundamental national characteristics are not going to be changed. These fundamental conceptions are going to remain permanent.

The great body of the people are thoroughly law-abiding.

People Going to Obey Law.

This great law-abiding element of the nation is entitled to and needs protection. I propose to give that support and protection to the limit.

there would be no warrant for the present gathering. I can conceive of no opinion on this in which every responsible element must concur.

No provision of the Eighteenth Amendment, or the national prohibition act, contemplates any surrender of state responsibility. Under them prohibition becomes obligatory in all states, for the Constitution and the laws made in pursuance thereof, are specifically declared, by the Federal Constitution, to be the supreme law of the land. The sure binding upon every inhabitant. But there still remains to the states the power, so fully reserved in the Eighteenth Amendment, to pass enforcing acts, and there is still on them a grave responsibility to enact and execute enforcement laws, which may not always be exercised, but which can never be avoided.

The complementary duty to the enforcement of the law is still left to the states. That duty is to the people themselves. The Eighteenth Amendment prohibits manufacture, transportation, sale, export and import. These are the commercial activities. It is in intoxicating liquors, for beverage purposes, is especially denounced. It is in this field that most of the difficulty exists. The main problem arises from those who are bent on making money by an illegal traffic in intoxicating liquors. If this could be eliminated, the rest would be easy.

These problems must be taken directly to the American people. This government is their government; these laws are their laws. They have formed their government and enacted their laws, with all due solemnity, to promote their welfare and protect their liberties. They are not a nation of inebriates; they are not a people who can be changed with being hypocrites. They have no patience with anarchy. They are a sober, frank and candid people. They have respect and reverence for duly constituted authority. To them the law is a rule of action. These fundamental national characteristics are not going to be changed. Coughing—a futile waste of strength—

MEDICAL authorities agree that coughing aggravates the irritation in throat and lungs that is causing the cough and therefore only makes you cough the more. Control the cough and the irritation is soon relieved.

Dr. King's New Discovery stops coughing quickly by gently stimulating the mucous membranes to throw off clogging secretions. Then it lessens and effectively the violent throat and chest spasms are quieted, and the inflammation is then quickly cleared away. It has an agreeable taste.

The predicament that the individual Democrat finds himself in is that he is all dressed up and has no place to go. The party might be likened to European politics, where parties are divided to right and left wings. Certainly this "permanent of a party" is not the right wing and not desiring to be harsh we must be to call it the wrong wing instead of the left wing. Probably a better designation for this quickly set up organization, with its sole object the judgeship, would be the "short" wing. Cleaveland County Democrats never have, and never will, follow the "short" wing.

SECOND ISSUE WILL MEAN 1335 MILES OF NEW HIGHWAYS

Miles of Mud to be Eased When Voters Approve Road Loan.

COUNTIES TO BENEFIT THROUGH 50-50 PLAN

William Jennings, Harrisburg, Meant Very Little Opposition to Proposal.

Not less than 1335 additional miles of durable, modern type road will be built in Pennsylvania if the voters November 5 approve the proposition to bond the state for an additional $100,000,000, according to William Jennings, secretary of the Pennsylvania Highway Organization.

Under the approval of the first bond issue in 1913, said Mr. Jennings, Pennsylvania has built over 2500 miles of modern type road. Some of the modern portion of it has been built under the direction of the State Highway Department. No other state in the Union has made such a record.

There is little doubt in his mind that the voters will give the new bond issue an even greater majority than did the first one. No opposition is expected. The proposed road loan is a political issue. It is not being fought by any political party or for any party.

The list of counties which comprise the Association of Highway Organizations, in order of road mileage, is as follows: Adams, Allegheny, Armstrong, Berks, Bradford, Bucks, Cambria, Carbon, Chester, Columbia, Dauphin, Delaware, Elberton, Franklin, Fulton, Lancaster, Lebanon, Lehigh, Luzerne, Lycoming, Mifflin, Monroe, Montgomery, Northampton, Northumberland, Perry, Potter, Schuylkill, Snyder, Sullivan, Susquehanna, Tioga, Union, Warren, Washington, York, and Adams.

Under the 50-50 plan, the state will contribute 50 percent of the cost of the road, and the county will contribute the other 50 percent. The plan is to build 1335 miles of road in 1924, 1335 miles in 1925, and 1335 miles in 1926.

Curwensville's Own Column

The Curwensville H. S. football team met their Waterloo at Tyrone Saturday afternoon by a score of 19 to 7. For unfairness the Tyrone team has no parallel, and before the first quarter was finished it was easily discernible to the experienced eye that they were resorting to all of the dirty tricks known in football. The first move they made was to have ruled out of the game several of the C. H. S. players, the claim being that they were over the age limit, which was not the case at all, but Black in order to have place acquired in their demand and Olson was not permitted in the game, although he was a legitimate high school student and under the age.

The referee was an inexperienced man at the game (this statement was made by a Tyrone player) and was determined by his rulings and decisions to have Tyrone win the game at all hazards, his rottenness being even greater than that of Gilliam at Du Bois last season. His penalizing of the Curwensville team were unjust in several instances. Curwensville was not even permitted to have a snap, and Tyrone howled themselves hoarse when a timekeeper was defamed and even at that our boys were penalized when Robinson entered the field to ask a question after play had ceased.

At the time for the second half to begin Tyrone was permitted five minutes grace before entering the field when the rule book expressly provides that a team not appearing on the field when time is called suffers a penalty of 25 yards, yet the Tyrone referee would not allow the forfeit. This was only one of the many dirty tricks pulled off.

The Tyrone team did not report to the referee, but grabbed the man who held the ball by the back of the neck and held him. Of course the home referee did not see anything like this, but it was very apparent to Tyrone spectators.

Several of the C. H. S. men were knocked out early in the game by the roughneck tactics used by their opponents. One Tyrone man who knows a thing or two about football told the writer that Curwensville people need not be ashamed of its team because of its defeat, as the C. H. S. boys had not believed the report received of their few days previous to the game that they were all good, clean players and would not resort to any dirty tricks in order to win any game or number of games.

Curwensville supported its team royally at the Tyrone game Saturday, there being more people from Curwensville on the grounds than from Tyrone's population. The boys are loud in their praise of the fine treatment they received at the P. R. R. Y. M. C. A. and also at the restaurant where they took their meals. Despite the ill treatment received at the hands of the Tyrone team on the ball field Curwensville bears no malice to Tyrone, and feel that if their opponents are disposed to play a rough game, it is no reason why they should follow their example. But the battle is over and if Tyrone is satisfied at the manner in which the game was won the pleasure is all theirs.

Southern Hospitality Overwhelms Georges; Megan Hates Speeches

With Lloyd George's special train enroute to Indianapolis, Oct. 22—Southern hospitality, David Lloyd George thinks, is worthy of all the praise sung in its behalf. As he set out today to resume his speaking tour he said he never would forget the fried chicken, corn cakes, oyster soup and other southern delicacies he got during his two days stay in Louisville.

His daughter, Miss Megan also left Louisville with regret, for while there she did not have to attend a single speech making function, but was permitted just to play about at the country home of Judge Bingum, host to the Lloyd Georges.

"I hate speeches," said Miss Megan Lloyd George will speak tonight at a public meeting in Indianapolis.

A lot of folks have little faith in mental telepathy. But there is something to it, shipmates. Prof. Thayer has been combing the section for more good old players for our justly celebrated American Legion Band and Old Doc Stork must have caught his wave length. Anyhow, Old Doc dropped into town and left a new French Horn player at Tommy Bryan's house on Fourth street yesterday afternoon. The only thing wrong is the fact that the new musician's parents have started him out under a dreadful handicap, his name is William J. Bryan—and in these good Republican times, too.

DO NOT FAIL to Attend the Sunday School and Church INSTITUTE Now Going On At the LUTHERAN CHURCH

Tonight at 7:45

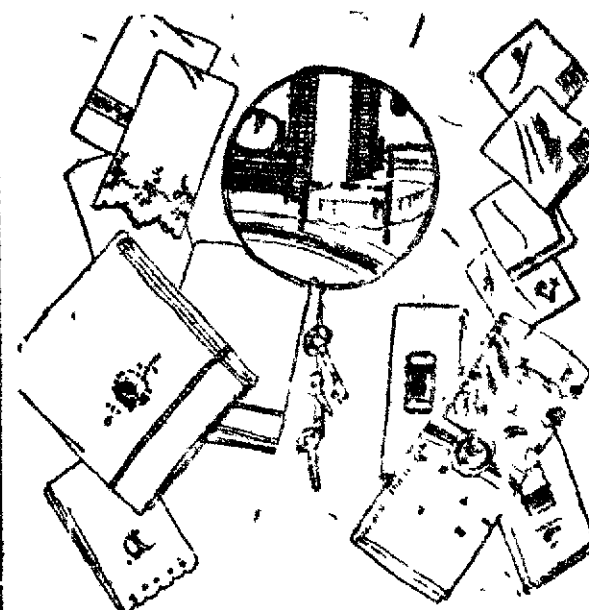

we are to learn the "Pleasing Surprise" that Rev. Hauser is holding in store for us. Are you getting anxious? This will be your last warning. BE THERE!

Tomorrow Night at 7:45

—HEAR—

REV. M. HADWIN FISCHER, Ph. D. (Phila.)

Some have probably heard Rev. Fischer (he being an active member in the Pennsylvania State Sabbath School Association) and will want to hear him again. He will have a message that will appeal to everyone.

Linen Week

SNOWY WHITE LINENS
THAT WILL MAKE MOTHER
PROUD AND HAPPY

The Fall days give Mother a chance to get everything in the home in ship shape condition. The first way thing to do is to take an inventory of the Linen Closet. Our Linens are all especially priced to give Mother a chance to stock up on those supplies that have dwindled. Fresh sheets, table cloths, towels—we can fill all of her needs.

The Gift Appropriate

THERE is no gift that so combines beauty with utility, as a watch. And yet, there is nothing so embarrassing to the recipient or the giver as a watch that "forgets its duty". To make the first blush of appreciation everlasting, be sure it is a BULOVA.

Sapphire. This exquisite wrist watch has an 18 Kc solid white gold engraved case, with a beautiful sapphire in each end piece; fine 17 jewel. $75
Bulova Movement.

Same size and quality as one shown above, except without end pieces. $65
